School Reports and Parents Living in Separate Homes
There are a number of school families that are separated but do not have any formal custody arrangements. In these situations both parents are entitled to receive relevant school information. This usually includes newsletters and school reports. We have attempted to establish a list where parents require separate reports. If this relates to you and you did not receive a separate report at the end of term 2 please email Linda in the front office linda.fehlandt511@schools.sa.edu.au so you can be included on the list.

Parents are also reminded that if you have a formal custody order relating to your child, the school requires a copy for their files to ensure that we are complying with the legal requirements. Once again if this relates to you, please bring the order into the school office so we can take a copy for our files.

Enrolments 2014
We are currently in the process of looking at our staffing needs for next year. To do this effectively, we need accurate numbers of children who will be attending in 2014 as staffing is determined by the number of enrolments we have. It would be most helpful if we received this information before Friday 16th August. Please use the return slip at the end of the newsletter if your child(ren) will not be returning to East Adelaide School in 2014.

If you know of any families with young children who wish to attend East Adelaide School in 2014 please advise them to enrol their children as soon as possible or contact Linda in the front office so they can take a copy for our files.

Volunteers
As of Monday 12th August, changes are being implemented regarding the Criminal History Screening process for volunteers in DECD schools. Volunteers must apply for a screening assessment using a Child-related employment screening form and all other application forms will not be accepted. These forms are available from the school front office or may be downloaded from the Department for Community and Social Inclusion website http://www.dcsi.sa.gov.au/services/screening

Good News Story
If you have not already heard the news, East Adelaide School has won the Orienteering Championships for the 18th year in a row! Congratulations to all the students who participated on the day and thank you to the teachers who supported the students in being successful.

Information for Parents/Carers
All Australian governments have agreed to work together to implement a new annual national data collection on school students with disability. This data collection process is being phased in over a three year period in 2013-2015. The first two years will be a transition period. This means that all schools will begin preparing for participating in the collection from 2013. In 2015, the first full national collection of data on school students with disability will take place in all Australian schools. From then on, this data collection will occur in every school every year, along with other school data collections.

Why introduce a national collection of data on school students with disability?
All Australian governments agree that every child in an Australian school, regardless of his or her circumstances, has the right to a high quality and inclusive education that meets his or her needs. Better information about school students with disability will assist teachers, principals and education authorities to support their participation in schooling on the same basis as students without disability.

How will it benefit my child?
There are students with disability in every school in Australia at some point. This means that every school needs to be ready and able to support students with disability to ensure that any obstacles to participation and achievement in their school education are identified and minimised. This new national data collection will reinforce the actions required of schools under the national Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Disability Standards for Education 2005. These laws mean that schools and education systems are required to make, where needed, reasonable adjustments for students with disability.

An adjustment is a measure or action taken to assist a student with disability to participate in education on the same basis as other students. Adjustments can be made across the whole school setting, in the classroom and at the individual level. Determining the level and type of support needed for an individual student is not a new activity for Australian schools.

Currently there is only limited and inconsistent information available at a national level about school students with disability, their educational needs and the support provided to them. The information provided by this new national data collection will enable all Australian governments to better target support and resources. That will assist students with disability in government and non-government schools across Australia to complete school and go on to further education or find employment.

What information will be collected?
The following information will be collected annually at the school level:
- the level of adjustment provided;
- the number of students receiving each level of adjustment to enable them to participate in education on the same basis as other students; and
- where known, the student’s type of disability.

Who will collect my child’s information and how will they do it?
School teams will collect evidence based on:
- consultation with parents/carers;
- their observations and professional judgments; and
- any medical diagnosis.

The evidence will be collected over at least a 10 week period. This evidence will help the school teams to determine:
- which students to include in the data collection;
- the levels of adjustment that are provided, both within and outside the classroom; and
- the broad category of disability.

In line with good teaching practice and the requirements of the Disability Standards for Education 2005, you will continue to be provided with opportunities to discuss ways to assist your child overcome barriers and the adjustments that could be made to support your child. Principals and school teams will be supported with training to assist them to make accurate judgements. School principals will assure the accuracy of information collected about each student.

Which schools and students will be included?
Your child’s school principal will be advised about their school’s involvement and when the school will be participating in recording information for the data collection. A student will only be included in the data collection if he/she meets the definition of disability under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the school has evidence of this.

Can I withdraw my child’s information from being included in the national reporting activity?
You decide whether you want your child’s information to be included or not in the national reporting activity. Your school principal will forward information to you once they are participating so you can make an informed choice.
How will my child’s privacy be protected?
Protecting the privacy and confidentiality of all children and their families is a key priority. Authorised staff in each school will manage the information to ensure that personal or confidential information is not disclosed. Transmission of data by the school will be done in such a way that the privacy and confidentiality of all students is protected.
When data are reported it will be at the school level only and no individual student will be able to be identified in the data collection.

What will the information be used for?
It is intended that the data collected about students with disability will be published on the My School website and in other national reports on schooling from 2016 onwards. Public reporting of these data will mean more is known about how all Australian schools and education authorities support students with disability. Australian schools and education authorities will use these data as evidence to improve their support for students with disability.

Further information
For further information about the national collection of data on Australian school students with disability and how you can support it, please visit www.deewr.gov.au/students-disability.

PARVOVIRUS – SLAPPED CHEEK
We have had a suspected case of Parvovirus B19 in the school. The most common illness caused by parvovirus B19 is ‘fifth disease’, a mild rash illness that occurs most often in children. Symptoms may include a mild cough followed by a ‘slapped cheek’ rash on the face and torso. Generally this is a mild illness however if pregnant women become infected, the infection may be transmitted to the foetus. In less than 5% of cases this may cause severe anaemia for the unborn baby, resulting in miscarriage.
Any pregnant women who have been exposed to Parvovirus B19 should seek the advice of the doctor managing her pregnancy.

On Monday 5th August 39 students from Years 4 to 7 participated in the Orienteering Championships at Felixstow Reserve. It is with great pride that we are able to announce that the students were successful in winning the Championships for the 18th consecutive year. This is an outstanding achievement and all teachers and students are to be congratulated on their effort.

The Orienteering program is a unique and valued component of the health and Physical Activity program for students at East Adelaide. The students and teachers have been engaged in a number of practice programs in the lead up to the Championships. SCHOOL SWIMMING

This week the students in Rooms 12 and 13 have enjoyed a week of swimming lessons. Each day we travelled by bus to the Adelaide Aquatic Centre. On Monday all students were put into different groups. These groups were 'Star Fish', 'Otters', 'Dolphins', 'Sting Rays', 'Seals' and 'Crocodiles'. In each of these groups the students had the opportunity to participate in a range of activities to learn and continue to develop their swimming skills. It was lots of fun and thank you to the parents who were able to come to watch and help!

Lexi - ‘I am in Dolphins. I have enjoyed learning how to do torpedoes and swimming in the big pool with life jackets.

Lester - ‘I am in Otters. I have enjoyed learning how to swim backwards with the noodles.’

Jayla - ‘I am in Seals. I enjoyed swimming on my back and tummy in the big pool.

Riley - ‘I am in Crocodiles. I enjoyed going underwater on my tummy.’
On Wednesday 7th August the Year 4 and 5 students were thrilled to have a visit from best-selling author, Jacqueline Harvey. Ms Harvey is the writer of both Alice-Miranda and Clementine Rose book series.

Here is what some students said about her visit:
"I love the way she based her characters on real life people." Rosie, Room 18

"I thought the author visit was really funny and entertaining especially when she would break into her character's voices." Lily, Room 17

"It was interesting learning about her life and how she gets ideas for her books." Seb, Room 18
